MEDIA RELEASE

ARAPAHOE COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE DEPUTIES TO RECEIVE AWARDS FROM THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF SCHOOL RESOURCE OFFICERS

Three deputies with the Arapahoe County Sheriff's Office have been selected for awards by the National Association of School Resource Officers (NASRO) for their actions during the shooting at Arapahoe High School on December 13, 2013.

Deputy James Englert has been selected as the recipient of the National Award of Valor for his courageous action on December 13, 2013. This award is presented annually to a School Resource Officer (SRO) who has exhibited extreme bravery and courage in the face of danger. Deputy Englert is the SRO for Arapahoe High School and was working in the school when the shooting occurred.

Deputy Robert Bratsch and Deputy James Mason will each be presented with the NASRO Exceptional Service Award. Deputies Bratsch and Mason are being recognized for their actions exhibiting great courage and bravery as they responded to assist Deputy Englert at Arapahoe High School.

The awards will be presented to the deputies on July 14, 2014, during the opening ceremonies of the NASRO Conference in Palm Springs, California.

For additional information contact Sheriff David C. Walcher at 720-874-4176.
