

Unincorporated Social Characteristics

Place of Birth

In 2016, the unincorporated portion of District 4 had the highest proportion of persons who were foreign born at 31 percent. District 3 had the highest proportion of persons born in Colorado at 46 percent and District 1 had over 90 percent born in the US. District 2 had the highest percentage of persons born in the US but outside of Colorado (46 percent).

Geographic Mobility

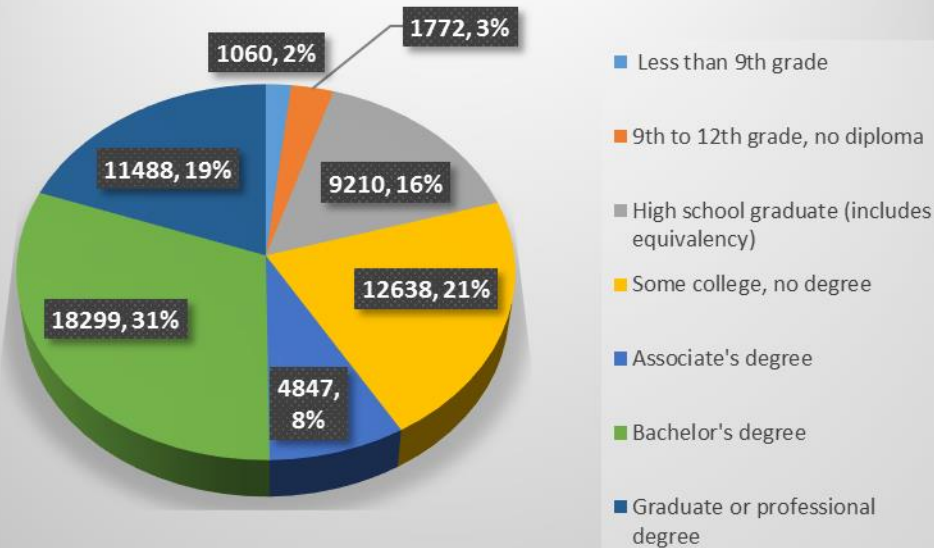

Geographic mobility describes the percentage of population within the unincorporated area that lived in the same house one year before. For 2016, 80 percent lived in the same house, the same as the County average. District 4 shows the greatest geographic mobility with approximately 71 percent living in the same residence, while District 1 has the greatest stability with 88 percent living in the same residence.

The unincorporated portion of District 2 has the most persons who moved from abroad (418 or 1.4 percent).

Education

Educational Attainment, 2016
Unincorporated Arapahoe County

In 2015, 16 percent of people 25 years and over had a high school diploma or equivalency and 49 percent had a bachelor's degree or higher. The comparable figures for the entire County were 20 percent and 40 percent. Five percent were dropouts; they were not enrolled in school and had not graduated from high school, less than the 8 percent countywide.

The unincorporated portion of District 3 contains the lowest percentage of persons with a bachelor's degree or higher (40 percent), but the highest percentage of persons with a high school diploma or higher (96 percent), primarily due to a large number of persons with some college but no degree or an associate's degree. District 2's unincorporated population had the second highest percentages for high school diploma or higher (96 percent) and highest for bachelor's degree or higher (61 percent).
